

GUIDANCE NOTES

Rent Review - Agricultural Tenancies Act 1995

What happens first?

In order for your rent to be reviewed your landlord or tenant has to serve you a valid notice either, depending on the terms of the tenancy, in accordance with the terms of the tenancy agreement or under section 10 of the Agricultural Tenancies Act 1995.

When is this notice served?

This notice must be served 12 months before the next termination date of the tenancy by either the landlord or the tenant for a rent increase or reduction.

Procedure

Often the party invoking the review will have a figure in mind for the rent and may begin the process by suggesting this figure.

Important

It is important to remember that a rent review is a negotiation between both the landlord and tenant or their appointed advisors.

Agreeing

If you are in agreement with the landlord or tenant as to what the rent is then you will then need to sign a memorandum of agreement, this states that the rent properly payable for the holding has changed. Keep this with your original tenancy if possible.

Disputes

If the figure suggested is not agreeable and agreement has not been reached by the review date, then in order for the party seeking the review to ensure that the rent is reviewed they will need to apply to appoint an arbitrator or third party expert. This process is often done by make an application to the President of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors, the Central Association of Agricultural Valuers or the Agricultural Law Association. You will need to check if a procedure is specified in your tenancy agreement.

Arbitration

When the matter has been referred to arbitration or third party expert determination an independent 3rd party will be appointed to try and get the parties to agree on a rent. If there is no common ground then the matter will go before the third party.

He will be presented with information and evidence from both sides and their reasoning behind the rent they propose. This can often include relevant matters such as comparable evidence and the profitability of the farm. He will then make a decision which will be legally binding.
